More About Finishes

Paint

Thicker than stain, paint provides greater coverage of wood grain, knotholes, and natural color variations to deliver consistent, even coloring and a sleek look ideal for modern designs. With paint, you can enjoy a clean, fresh backdrop in your kitchen with a smooth, even look from cabinet to cabinet. Because no wood grain will show through, you have exact control over the color of your cabinets.

When paint is selected, the drawer front, door stiles, door rails and/or door center panel may be constructed of a paint-grade substrate, a material that helps provide resistance to warping, expansion and contraction.

Stain

Love the natural look of wood? Our beautiful stains can subtly enhance your cabinets' color, grain texture, and unique characteristics to make the most of what's already there: solid birch wood. Stain is especially well suited for traditional or rustic styles, where the warmth and earthy tones of wood play a key role.

Laminate

For a clean look that can withstand even the most active kitchen environments, consider the durability of laminate. Less susceptible to stains caused by spills, splashes and stains from grease, dirt and more, laminate cabinets and countertops make messy manageable and can be cleaned in no time. Plus, they're UV-resistant, so you can enjoy lasting color that always looks like new.
